Physiotherapy in Abbotsford and Surrey for Swimming

Welcome to Apex Physiotherapy and Health Clinics resource about swimming.

Let's face it; Caeleb Dressel has made the sport of swimming incredibly cool. It was amazing to watch him glide through the water like it was his home, as if he had flippers instead of hands and feet.

While the sport has always typically been considered low risk, with the exception of holding your breath and staying under the water too long, there is an opportunity to hurt yourself and keep you in the shallow end through the repetitive motion that can lend itself to a shoulder injury.

This specific section of our site is dedicated to you, the swimmer. It is here that you will find the information and exercises that will keep you competing in the butterfly relay and not doggie paddling in the kiddy pool.
